Procuring commercial and industrial waste management services in an evolving circular economy

Selecting the right waste management partner is fundamental to the success of your own corporate sustainability objectives, as is reducing costs for services and having the right solution in place that fits your business needs.

The UK waste industry boasts thousands of waste management companies dealing with commercial and industrial waste every day. Therefore ensuring you have the right collection partner with best-fit collection methods and within compliance is critical for you, the environment and your business.

WRC's Resource Efficiency team enables our clients to meet the challenges in dealing with waste on a daily basis, whilst delivering significant cost and environmental benefits to a whole array of industries.

Solutions proposed by WRC are completely independent, fit for purpose and have been devised by professional waste consultants. For WRC clients this delivers a unique approach, as typically waste management suppliers will devise solutions that suit their own business models and can lead to significant higher costs when it comes to dealing with waste for waste producers.

WRC can help

Waste producers turn to WRc to devise their onward waste solution, maximising best practice, environmental risk reduction, and significant cost savings. This leaves our clients to concentrate on their business whilst benefiting from the unique WRc offering, which includes access to WRc's specialist experts for more challenging wastes. Our waste doctors can carry out bespoke assessment of complex wastes, laboratory testing, waste trials and provide accurate, compliant waste classifications.

Our services can typically be defined as follows:

- identification of best practice techniques utilising the waste hierarchy
- identification of significant cost savings to clients
- identifying improvements to the current waste systems
- identification of alternative waste systems, disposal methods, improved commodity values, reduced costs, streamlined operational processes
- development of bespoke waste proposals agreed with the client
- facilitating the correct operators to specific waste streams
- organising and developing procurement support
- mobilisation of contractors with the client from point of contract award
- continuing to work with our clients in delivering onward innovation through WRc abilities
